Art. 1 Object

1. These Didactic Regulations govern the organisational aspects of the CdS in Modern European Languages, Cultures and Literatures (class L-11 R).
The CdS in Modern European Languages, Cultures and Literatures is hinged in the Department of Humanities.
2. The CdS is governed by the Didactic Coordination Commission (CCD), pursuant to Art. 4 of the RDA. Additionally, pursuant to Art. 4 of the University Didactic Regulations, a Sub-Commission for Didactic Coordination of the Degree Program in Modern European Languages, Cultures, and Literatures has been established, approved with decision-making powers by the Department Council on January 15, 2020 (see Minutes no. 01/2020 of the Department Council).
3. The Didactic Regulations are issued in compliance with the relevant legislation in force, the Statute of the University of Naples Federico II, and the RDA.

Art. 2 Training objectives

The educational project of the Degree Program is set in the intercultural context of multicultural and multilingual European societies. It aims to provide qualifications that are applicable at the national, European, and international levels in view of employment and professional opportunities, as foreseen by the class, in the sectors of cultural services, publishing, cultural institutions, foreign language teaching in vocational training, businesses and commercial activities, diplomatic and consular representations, cultural tourism, and cultural mediation, as well as the training of development operators in multi-ethnic and multicultural contexts. It can also serve as a first level and foundation for higher university education paths in the fields of foreign languages, cultures, and literatures, including preparation for teaching for graduate students who will have sufficient credits in the appropriate groups of sectors and who, as provided by current legislation, will be able to participate in the admission tests for secondary education teacher training. The training is particularly focused on the modern and contemporary ages. Based on the knowledge of Italian literature and general linguistics, the core of knowledge, skills, and abilities acquired in a continuous and organic process over all three years consists of in-depth knowledge of two of the four European cultures and literatures offered by the Degree Program, in addition to Italian, and, in addition to general linguistics, of the linguistics of the respective languages, assuming practical linguistic-communicative skills (written and oral) at a C1 level of the European framework. In an interdisciplinary and comparative perspective, students must, on one hand, have an overview of the most important linguistic theories and methodologies, both in general and concerning the linguistics of two of the four languages, and, on the other hand, have an in-depth knowledge of the history of the two related literatures, in addition to Italian; these include the related cultures, as well as the development of literary genres and literary analysis methodologies. To complete the basic knowledge, students must have in-depth knowledge of historiography or geography, acquired in the second year of study. To integrate the modernist core of the studies, in the second year of studies students must choose between historical-philological subjects, such as Romance linguistics and philology, Germanic philology, or Latin language and literature, while in the third year, foreign language courses are offered from a historical-comparative perspective. As an alternative to the latter, in the third year, along with free choices by students, a wide range of complementary and related subjects are also offered, ranging from literary and cultural fields to linguistic fields, the history of philosophy, and language teaching. To achieve the above-described objectives, students will follow the Study Plan outlined in the Didactic Regulations.

Admission requirements and knowledge required for access to the Degree Program¹

To be admitted to the Degree Program in Modern European Languages, Cultures, and Literatures, students must have a high school diploma or another qualification obtained abroad that is recognized as suitable.

Students must also possess the prerequisites concerning knowledge of the humanities in the relevant and basic disciplinary areas, as well as adequate writing and oral communication skills.

In addition, the ability to understand and correctly express in written and oral form an Italian text of medium length, related to one of the basic disciplines of the Degree Program, is required, as well as the ability to participate in a conversation regarding the basic disciplines foreseen by the Degree Program.

Prospective students will take an evaluation test, possibly online, aimed at providing general indications of the student's aptitude for the chosen studies and the state of the basic knowledge required.

The outcome of this test is indicative for students but is not binding for admission.

If the assessment is negative, the student must fulfill the Additional Formative Obligations (OFA) prepared by the Degree Program.

¹ Artt. 7, 13, 14 of the University Didactic Regulations.

Art. 5

Procedures for access to the Degree Program (CdS)

1. The CCD of the Degree Program normally regulates the admission criteria and any scheduling of enrolments, except in cases subject to different provisions of law².
2. In the event of negative assessment of the adequate initial preparation regarding knowledge requirements for admission to the Degree Program, the CCD assigns specific Additional Formative Obligations (OFA), indicating the means of verification to be fulfilled within the Program's first year.

Art. 6

Teaching activities and university training credit (Teaching activities and CFU)

Each training activity, prescribed by the CdS detail sheet, is measured in CFU.

Each CFU corresponds to 25 hours of overall training commitment³ per student and includes the hours of teaching activities specified in the curriculum as well as the hours reserved for personal study or other individual training activities.

For the Degree Program covered by these Regulations, the teaching hours for each credit, established based on the type of training activity, are as follows, divided into 6 and 12 University Training Credits (CFU) modules:

Each CFU corresponds to five hours of lectures.

The CFU assigned to linguistic training activities with a high practical content (exercises/reading classes) provide for a ratio of 1 CFU to 20 hours of activity.

Therefore,

6 CFU modules correspond to 30 hours of lectures.

12 CFU modules correspond to 60 hours of lectures.

12 CFU modules of foreign language and linguistics are structured as follows:

In the first and second years:

6 CFU for a total of 30 hours of lectures, accompanied inseparably by 6 CFU of linguistic training activities with a high practical content (exercises/reading classes) for a total of 120 additional hours.

In the third year:

6 CFU for a total of 30 hours of lectures, accompanied by practical textual exercises and laboratory work for a total of 120 additional hours.

For internship activities, each credit corresponds to 25 hours of overall training commitment⁴.

The CFU corresponding to each training activity acquired by the student is awarded by satisfying the assessment procedures (examination, pass mark) indicated in the Course sheet relating to the course/activity attached to these Didactic Regulations.

² National programmed access is regulated by L. 264/1999 and subsequent amendments and supplements.

³ According to Art. 5, c. 1 of Italian Ministerial Decree No 270/2004, "25 hours of total commitment per student correspond to university training credits; a ministerial decree may justifiably determine variations above or below the aforementioned hours for individual classes, by a limit of 20 per cent".

⁴ For Internship activities (Inter-ministerial Decree 142/1998), subject to further specific provisions, the number of working hours equal to 1 CFU may not be less than 25.]

Art. 7

Description of teaching methods

The didactic activity is carried out in presential modality.

If necessary, the CCD decides which courses also include teaching activities offered online.

Some courses may also take place in seminar form and/or involve classroom exercises, language, and computer laboratories.

Detailed information on how each course is conducted can be found in the course sheets.

Art. 8

Testing of training activities⁵

1. The CCD, within the prescribed regulatory limits⁶, establishes the number of examinations and other means of assessment that determine the acquisition of credits. Examinations are individual and may consist of written, oral, practical, graphical tests, term papers, interviews, or a combination of these modes.
2. The examination procedures published in the course sheets and the examination schedule will be made known to students before the start of classes on the Department's website.⁷
3. Examinations are held subject to booking, which is made electronically. In case the student is unable to book an exam for reasons that the President of the Board considers justifiable, the student may still be admitted to the examination, following those students already booked.
4. Before examination, the President of the Board of Examiners verifies the identity of the student, who must present a valid photo ID.
5. Examinations are marked out of 30. Examinations involving an assessment out of 30 shall be passed with a minimum mark of 18; a mark of 30 may be accompanied by honours by a unanimous vote of the Board. Examinations are marked out of 30 or with a simple pass mark. Assessments following tests other than examinations are marked out with a simple pass mark.
6. Oral exams are open to the public. If written tests are scheduled, the candidate has the right to see his/her paper(s) after correction.
7. The University Didactic Regulations govern Examination Boards⁸.

⁵ Article 22 of the University Didactic Regulations.

compatible with the training Degree Program, acquired by the student at the originating Degree Program, according to the criteria outlined in Article 14 below. Failure to recognise credits must be adequately justified. It is without prejudice to the fact that the number of credits relating to the same scientific-disciplinary sector directly recognised by the student may not be less than 50% of those previously achieved.

Article 14

Criteria for the recognition of credits acquired in Degree Programs of different classes, in university or university-level Degree Programs, through single courses, at online Universities and in international Degree Programs¹⁵; criteria for the recognition of credits acquired in extra-curricular activities

1. With regard to the criteria for the recognition of CFU acquired in Degree Programs of different Classes, in university or university-level Degree Programs, through single courses, at online Universities and in International Degree Programs, the credits acquired are recognised by the CCD on the basis of the following criteria:

- analysis of the activities carried out;
- evaluation of the congruity of the disciplinary scientific sectors and of the contents of the training activities in which the student has earned credits with the specific training objectives of the Degree Program and of the individual training activities to be recognised.

Recognition is carried out up to the number of credits envisaged by the didactic system of the Degree Program. Failure to recognise credits must be adequately justified. Pursuant to Art. 5, c. 5-bis, of Ministerial Decree 270/2004, it is also possible to acquire CFU at other Italian universities on the basis of agreements established between the concerned institutions, in accordance with the regulations current at the time ¹⁶.

2. Any recognition of CFU relating to examinations passed as single courses may take place within the limit of 36 CFU, upon request of the interested party and following the approval of the CCD. Recognition may not contribute to the reduction of the legal duration of the Degree Program, as determined by Art. 8, c. 2 of Ministerial Decree 270/2004, except for students who enrol while already in possession of a degree of the same level¹⁷.

3. With regard to the criteria for the recognition of CFU acquired in extra-curricular activities, within the limit of 12 CFU the following activities may be recognised:

- Professional knowledge, skills, and certified skills, taking into account the congruence of the activity carried out and/or of the certified skill with the aims and objectives of the Degree Program as well as the hourly commitment of the duration of the activity.
- Knowledge and skills acquired in post-secondary-level training activities, which the University contributed to developing and implementing.

Art. 15

Criteria for enrolment in individual teaching courses

¹⁵ Art. 19 and Art. 27, c.6 of the University Didactic Regulations.

¹⁶ Art. 6, c. 9 of the University Didactic Regulations.

¹⁷ Art. 19, c. 4 of the University Didactic Regulations.

Enrolment in individual teaching courses, provided for by the University Didactic Regulations¹⁸, is governed by the "University Regulations for enrolment in individual teaching courses activated as part of the Degree Program"¹⁹.

Article 16

Features and modalities for the final examination

The final examination is a public discussion before a specific commission of a written paper, which is an important demonstration of the student's cultural maturity as well as their ability to process information autonomously and critically. The topic is usually agreed upon with one of the Degree Program's lecturers.

The thesis will address a topic consistent with one of the basic, characterizing, related, or integrative scientific-disciplinary sectors, and in any case, aligned with the educational objectives of the degree. In the paper, the student reports the knowledge acquired on the topic agreed upon with the lecturer, demonstrating the ability to critically process information gathered from research on the collected bibliographic data.

The oral discussion before the commission will also take place in the two foreign languages chosen by each student at the beginning of their course.

To be admitted to the final exam, the student must have acquired the number of university credits foreseen by the Didactic Regulations, minus those required for the final exam.

Article 17

Guidelines for traineeship and internship

1. Students enrolled in the Degree Program may decide to carry out internships or training periods with organisations or companies that have an agreement with the University.

Traineeship and internship are not compulsory and contribute to the award of credits for the other training activities chosen by the student and included in the study plan, as provided for by Art. 10, par. 5, letters d and e, of Ministerial Decree 270/2004²⁰.

2. The CCD regulates the modalities and characteristics of traineeship and internship with specific regulations.
3. The University of Naples Federico II, through the CCD and the Responsible of the Job Placement, ensures constant contact with the world of work to offer students and graduates of the University concrete opportunities for internships and work experience and to promote their professional integration.

Article 18

4. The University ensures guidance, tutoring and assistance services and activities to welcome and support students. These activities are organised by the Schools and/or Departments under the coordination of the University, as established by the RDA in Article 8.

Article 20

Evaluation of the quality of the activities performed

1. The Didactic Coordination Commission implements all the quality assessment forms of teaching activities envisaged by the regulations in force according to the indications provided by the University Quality Presidium.
2. In order to guarantee the quality of teaching to the students and to identify the needs of the students and all stakeholders, the University of Naples Federico II uses the Quality Assurance (QA)²³ System, developed in accordance with the document "Self-evaluation, Evaluation and Accreditation of the Italian University System" of ANVUR, using:
 - surveys on the degree of placement of graduates into the world of work and on post-graduate needs;
 - data extracted from the administration of the questionnaire to assess student satisfaction for each course in the curriculum, with questions relating to the way the course is conducted, teaching materials, teaching aids, organisation, facilities.

The requirements deriving from the analysis of student satisfaction data, discussed, and analysed by the Teaching Coordination Committee and the Joint Teachers' and Students' Committee (CPDS), are included among the input data in the service design process and/or among the quality objectives.

3. The QA System developed by the University implements a process of continuous improvement of the objectives and of the appropriate tools to achieve them, ensuring that planning, monitoring, and self-assessment processes are activated in all the structures to allow the prompt detection of problems, their adequate investigation, and the design of possible solutions.

Article 21

Final Rules

²² R.D No. 2482//2020.

Course: Philosophy and History of Ideas		Teaching Language: Italian
SSD (Subject Areas): Training activity chosen by the student. Pursuant to Art. 10, paragraph 5, letter A) PHIL-05/A M-FIL/06		CREDITS: 6
Course year: THIRD	Type of Educational Activity: D
Contents extracted from the SSD declaratory consistent with the training objectives of the course: Prerequisites The course consists of a semester-long module of lectures on theoretical topics (30 hours). It is aimed at students who have a basic knowledge of the history of Western philosophy. The course aims to analyse one or more philosophical concepts following the orientation of the history of ideas. The latter is less sectorial than the history of philosophy, as it reconstructs the development of ideas not only in the historical-philosophical field but also in the fields of literary history, scientific history, the history of religions, the arts, and political and social history. Nevertheless, in light of the criticisms levelled at Lovejoy's original approach and in view of developments in the second half of the 20th century and in recent decades, the history of ideas today does not consider ideas as invariant units that occur in different contexts: avoiding isolating ideas from the network of theoretical and practical articulations in which they are embedded, it takes into account their semantic substrate and the historical and social background in which they are anchored. Expected learning outcomes Knowledge and understanding Students must demonstrate knowledge of the main philosophical themes and the orientation of the history of ideas. They must demonstrate the ability to analyse a concept in the various fields in which it is found, grasping continuity and discontinuity in cultural history. They must therefore be able to adopt a perspective of the history of ideas, in line with the interdisciplinary approach of the degree course. Ability to apply knowledge and understanding Students must demonstrate their ability to read a philosophical, literary or other type of text, identifying and understanding the philosophical arguments and reflections contained therein, and be able to relate it to other texts from other periods. Students must also be able to identify the key terms in the text and understand their specific philosophical meaning.
Objectives: a) Expansion of the basic philosophical vocabulary. b) knowledge, understanding, and use of fundamental theoretical categories and of the main issues related to the history-of-ideas approach. c) knowledge and understanding of the concepts analyzed on the basis of the selected texts. d) understanding how to identify an “idea-unit” and how to trace it across different fields of knowledge, as well as in connection with its historical and cultural contexts. e) ability to relate the perspectives of the various fields in which an idea emerges. f) strengthening the ability to read philosophical texts in ways that allow for the reconstruction of the development and variations of the idea or group of ideas under examination.
